READINGS for SUNDAY, Oct. 22nd
(29TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME- Year A)

1st Reading - Isaiah 45.1, 4 - 6
 2nd Reading - 1 Thessalonians 1.1 - 5ab
 Gospel - Mathew 22.15 - 21

SEEING AN ICON OF GOD IN EVERY FACE

Today's Gospel offers us one of the strongest words of the New Testament. Jesus invites us to "render to Caesar what is Caesar's and to God what is God's." This is truly the Gospel of peace. The coin bearing the effigy and name of the emperor must be given to Caesar by paying the taxes if they are correct. But man and woman, who bear the effigy of God, resemble God. It is therefore a question of returning man and woman to God. No Caesar on earth can appropriate the human person. No Caesar on earth can take the place of God. We cannot even escape from law and justice in the name of God. And, however, the Christian faith is splendid, which acts like a sword of truth to free us from all confusion. If a pagan - the Persian emperor Cyrus - was an instrument of liberation for Israel, despite not knowing God, even more so can we today be instruments of liberation and peace. As? With the truth of the Gospel. May the Lord give us an active faith, a love willing to tire and a persevering hope! And we will bring his peace to the world.
