READINGS for SUNDAY, Sept. 15^h
(24th SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME)

1st Reading - Isaiah 50.5 - 9
 2nd Reading - James 2.14 - 18
 Gospel - Mark 8.27 - 35

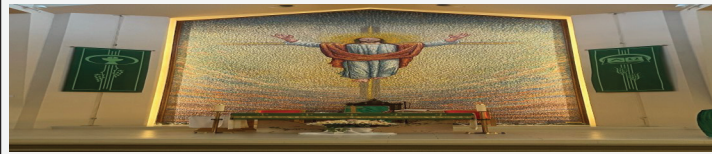

«BUT, WHO DO YOU SAY I AM?»

«Who do people say I am? But who do you say I am?». Jesus asks a twofold question: one about what the crowds think of him; another on what the disciples, those, that are closest to him think of him. These are questions we need to hear made to us too, and only if we are able to give an answer to them an authentic life relationship will be able to be established between us and Christ. The questions of Jesus require an integral response from man, as in every gift of God must correspond to the total gift of the person. The communion with God in Jesus Christ cannot, in fact, now refer to this, but to this other particular aspect, it must concern the whole man, in the totality of his external attitude (works) and in interior disposition in which the Holy Spirit lives and works (faith). Communion with God and others, through the grace of baptism, is a new existence, entirely characterized by faith, by hope and by charity, through which "the Lord of all" guides every man to let himself be involved by his presence. God, in Christ, is not just "being", but is "being there" that gives itself without condition, passing through the daily life of the "here and now".

«MA VOI, CHI DITE CHE IO SIA?»

«La gente, chi dice che io sia? Ma voi, chi dite che io sia?». Gesù pone un duplice quesito: uno su che cosa pensano di lui le folle; un altro su che cosa pensano di lui i discepoli, coloro, cioè, che gli sono più vicini. Sono domande che dobbiamo sentire fatte anche a noi, e solo se sapremo dare ad esse una risposta potrà stabilirsi tra noi e il Cristo un'autentica relazione di vita. Le domande di Gesù esigono una risposta integrale dell'uomo, come a ogni dono di Dio deve corrispondere il dono totale della persona. La comunione con Dio in Cristo Gesù non può, infatti, riferirsi ora a questo, ora a quest'altro aspetto particolare, ma deve riguardare tutto l'uomo, nella totalità del suo atteggiamento esteriore (opere) e nella disposizione interiore in cui vive e opera lo Spirito Santo (fede). La comunione con Dio e il prossimo, per la grazia del battesimo, è un'esistenza nuova, interamente connotata dalla fede, dalla speranza e dalla carità, mediante la quale «il Signore di tutti» guida ogni uomo a lasciarsi coinvolgere dalla sua presenza. Dio, in Cristo, non è solo "essere", ma è "esserci" che si dona senza condizione, passando attraverso la quotidianità del «qui e ora».
